

Prescott Cem.

Prescott, Col. Dudley born in Epping July 9, 1758

and d in Gilmanton Aug. 3, 1815

He volunteered his services to his country in the darkest period of the Rev. War and was in some of the battles that contributed to give freedom to the colonies. At an early period he found his way through a trackless wilderness in the westerly part of Gilmanton and after great industry and deprivation made the wilderness smile with the fruits of trees and the flowers of spring. His life was devoted to acts of charity and many of the first settlers of Gilmanton were often sustained by his assistance. May his ashes slumber in sweet repose and his faults be forgotten and his virtues be related by posterity.

Ye grieved friends, now cease to mourn to die, you know, we all are born.

Prescott Cem.

Prescott, Horatio G. ATES
d. April 3, 1838 age 57 yrs.
(son of Col Dudley and Martha Prescott)

Prescott, Leah (wife of Horatio G. Prescott)
d Aug. 9, 1859 age 76 yrs
(she was Leah Prescott Wadleigh and Horatio's cousin)

Prescott Cem.

Prescott, Martha (wife of Col. Dudley Prescott) born in Epping May 29, 1760 and died in Gilmanton Oct. 3, 1834