ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Of course, many thanks to Miss Caroline Mudgett of Plymouth, New Hampshire and Marion Mudgett Williams of Los Angeles, California who many years ago compiled information of the Mudgett family.

It was Bruce and Mildred Mudgett of Bennington, Vermont who took their information and created the first published Mudgett Genealogy in 1961.

Like them, I had the help of many Mudgetts across the United States who shared their information with me or researched individual families for me. It all helped immensely in compiling the work of this 2nd genealogy.

Also, special thanks to my sister, Donna Leach, of Burlington, Vermont for her help in proofreading, and retrieving Mudgett names from telephone directories through the Internet.

INTRODUCTION

I wrote to the College of Arms on Queen Victoria Street in London, England for an official investigation into our possibly having a coat-of-arms. The College of Arms was established in 1484 by King Richard III to institutionalize the tradition of "coats" of decorations handed down by sons of a family, thus coats-of-arms. There are 13 heralds staffing the College of Arms and they are appointed by the royalty. They are scholars versed in the arcane world of heraldry and genealogy, guardians of the college's archives, which contain 11,000 books, manuscripts, parchment rolls and records dating back to the eighth century.

I corresponded with Thomas Woodcock, the Somerset Herald. Since he refers to the introduction from the 1st edition of the Mudgett Genealogy done by Mildred and Bruce Mudgett in 1961, I thought it appropriate to copy it at the end of this introduction for those who do not have that first edition. The following is Mr. Woodcock's reply.

"I must at once say that I consider that there is much muddled reasoning in the introduction [in the first Mudgett genealogy] which you sent me which seems to throw together any references to the name Mudge or Mudgett which I consider to be distinct surnames and I think that the only way to tackle the problem would be to concentrate on Thomas Mudgett born in 1614 if he is the known and provable ancestor of Mudgetts in America today. The Battle Abbey Roll has been known to be a fiction throughout this century.

"The first Coat is that which Mr. Frere correctly stated was that recorded here for Boys of Devon, though it is as a quartering of Champernon of Dartington (College of Arms Ms: 1C1/297). The Pedigree as shown on vii of your introduction is recorded here at the Herald's Visitation of Surrey 1572 (College of Arms Ms: H5/6) and 1623 (C2/275b). Printed versions of the Visitations (Harleian Society Vol: xliii/2) do suggest that the Arms of Mugg are ARGENT A CHEVRON BETWEEN THREE WYVERNS SABLE and the only reason why these do not appear in our Records is that though a quartered Shield is shown in 1623 only the first quarter for More has been filled in. I therefore consider it reasonable to attribute these Arms to the Mugg family of Surrey though there is no reason to assume a connection with Mudgett.

"A Coat of VERT A CHEVRON ERMINE BETWEEN THREE ESCALLOPS OR was supplied by Canterbury Arms from Burke's General Armory. A search in our Records shows this Coat registered as a quartering for the Chenouth family of Mogion in Cornwall (College of Arms Ms: 2C1/424). The Pedigree show that Michael Chenouth of Mogion married Elizabeth daughter and heir of John Mogion of Cornwall. The quartering is not identified as Mogion, but as she was an heiress I should expect her Arms to be quartered and the slight similarity to Mudge leads me to suspect that this is the family to which the Coat refers.

"The Coat supplied by Halberts bears no resemblance to anything registered here and my immediate reaction is that it was also created by them.

"Burke's General Armory, an unofficial course which was first published in 1842 contains the following Coats for Mudge:

(1) Mudge, Sydney, Devon ARGENT A CHEVRON BETWEEN THREE COCKATRICES GULES with a Crest of A Cockatrice Gules.

- (2) Mudge - Argent a fess between three cinquefoils Sable.
- (3) Mudge of Guildford, Surrey - Argent three cockatrices Sable.

"Only the second of these three entries occurs in the first edition of the book in 1842.

"The first of these Coats is only a slight variation of that registered here probably for Boys and the one attributed in sources outside the College to Mugg as a quartering of More. The difference is that both the chevron and the cockatrices are Gules or red. A search in our Records reveals that this variation of the Coat is not registered here for any family.

"The second Coat ARGENT A FESS BETWEEN THREE CINQUEFOILS SABLE is registered here for families of Mavesyn as a quartering of Whitcombe (College of Arms Ms: 2C24/374) and Meese of Oxfordshire (College of Arms Ms: C29/59).

The third Coat ARGENT THREE COCKTRICES SABLE is not registered here for any family.

"Unofficial printed sources which I have consulted do not attribute any Arms to families named Mudgett.

"My opinion therefore is that no right to Arms by descent could be acquired by any family named Mudgett."

In subsequent correspondence with Thomas Woodcock, the Somerset Herald, I asked him to investigate the Mudgett name and to see if he could verify any ancestry of our Thomas Mudgett. This is his reply.

"Resarch into the English origins of your emigrant ancestor Thomas Mudgett has now been carried out up to the limit of the funds which you sent for this purpose and I write to report the outcome.

"As it was not known whereabouts in England Thomas (who was apparently born in 1614) came from, searches were initially undertaken to try to identify the County or Counties in which the surname occurred most frequently in the seventeenth century. To do this, an examination was made of the Mormon microfiche index of baptisms and marriages for the whole of the country. This index, which is arranged alphabetically under counties, by no means provides complete coverage but it gives an excellent idea of the distribution of a particular surname. Fortunately, Mudgett (and possible variant spellings, though not including Mudge which I consider to be a distinct name) was not a common surname; in fact, it was found to occur in appreciable numbers only in Surrey and, to a lesser extent, London.

"Searches were therefore carried out in the calendars of wills and administrations proved in the ecclesiastical courts which exercised immediate testamentary jurisdiction over Surrey and London, viz., the Consistory Court of London, the Commissary Court of London, the Archdeaconry Court of London, and the Commissary and Archdeaconry Courts of Surrey. I did not search the calendars of the Prerogative Courts of Canterbury (which held ultimate jurisdiction over the whole country) as you had already sent me notes which had been made from the records of this court.

"Between 1600 and 1650, however, only one Mudgett will was found to have been proved in any of the courts listed above: that of a Thomas Mudgett of Kingston upon Thames Co. Surrey, bargeman. It was dated 18 October 1612 and proved 13 November 1612 in the Archdeaconry Court of Surrey. The testator mentioned his wife Jane (who proved the will), his eldest son Henry, his second son Jacob, a son John, eldest daughter Alice, daughter Joan and his sister Elner (i.e. Eleanor) Peeter. He appointed as overseers of the will George Lutches, butcher and Reade Cordrey, beer brewer, both of Kingston.

"Now although this will was too early to be of any immediate use to us, it reinforced the view which I had previously formed which was that on statistical grounds, if on none other, Kingston upon Thames was the place where someone called Mudgett was most likely to have come from in the seventeenth century. As stated above, Surrey was the only County where entries occurred at Kingston. It was obvious that further research should be concentrated on the records of this place before casting the net any wider.

"Extensive searches were therefore carried out in the Kingston registers of baptisms, marriage and burials between 1560 and 1660. The results of these searches were then sorted out, where possible, into family groupings and these are set out on the enclosed rough chart. [Note: These are reproduced following this letter.] It must be said at once, however, that the registers at this comparatively early date are unlikely to have been entirely accurate; in particular, I feel sure that a sizable number of burials were not recorded. (For instance, there was no burial entry for the Thomas Mudgett whose will was dated and proved in 1612.)

"As you will see, the baptisms of three Thomas Mudgetts were recorded at Kingston which might have related to your ancestor though none actually occurred in 1614. They were: Thomas son of Thomas (1600), Thomas son of Henry (1608) and Thomas son of Antony (1610). It would be interesting to know on what evidence the statement that your emigrant ancestor was born in 1614 was based, for if it is a fact which can be proved beyond doubt then obviously he could not have been one of the Kingston Thomases. In my experience, however, it is not uncommon to find sizable errors in estimated dates of birth of seventeenth century emigrants and I do not think that the Kingston candidates should be dismissed from further consideration of the strength of this alone.

"Unfortunately, the absence of wills (with the one exception quoted above) and the lack of identifying details in early Parish Registers make it difficult, if not impossible, to say what became of the three Thomases on whom our interest is chiefly centered. None would appear to have been buried in infancy (though my strictures on the accuracy and completeness of the burial entries should be borne in mind), nor did any Thomas Mudgett marry or have children baptised at Kingston between 1603 (when William son of Thomas was baptised) and 1600.

"The burial of three Thomas Mudgett were recorded (with no other particulars) at Kingston after 1600: on 26 December 1628, 19 February 1641/2 and 22 April 1644. Assuming that one of these entries - probably the first - belonged to the Thomas whose children (including Thomas in 1600) were baptised between 1598 and 1618, just two entries are left to fit the three Thomases under review, and a fourth (son of John) baptised in 1626. Bearing in mind that any of these could have died after 1660 when the search was ended, it does tend to suggest that at least one Thomas Mudgett moved away from Kingston (though not necessarily to America, of course); but which?

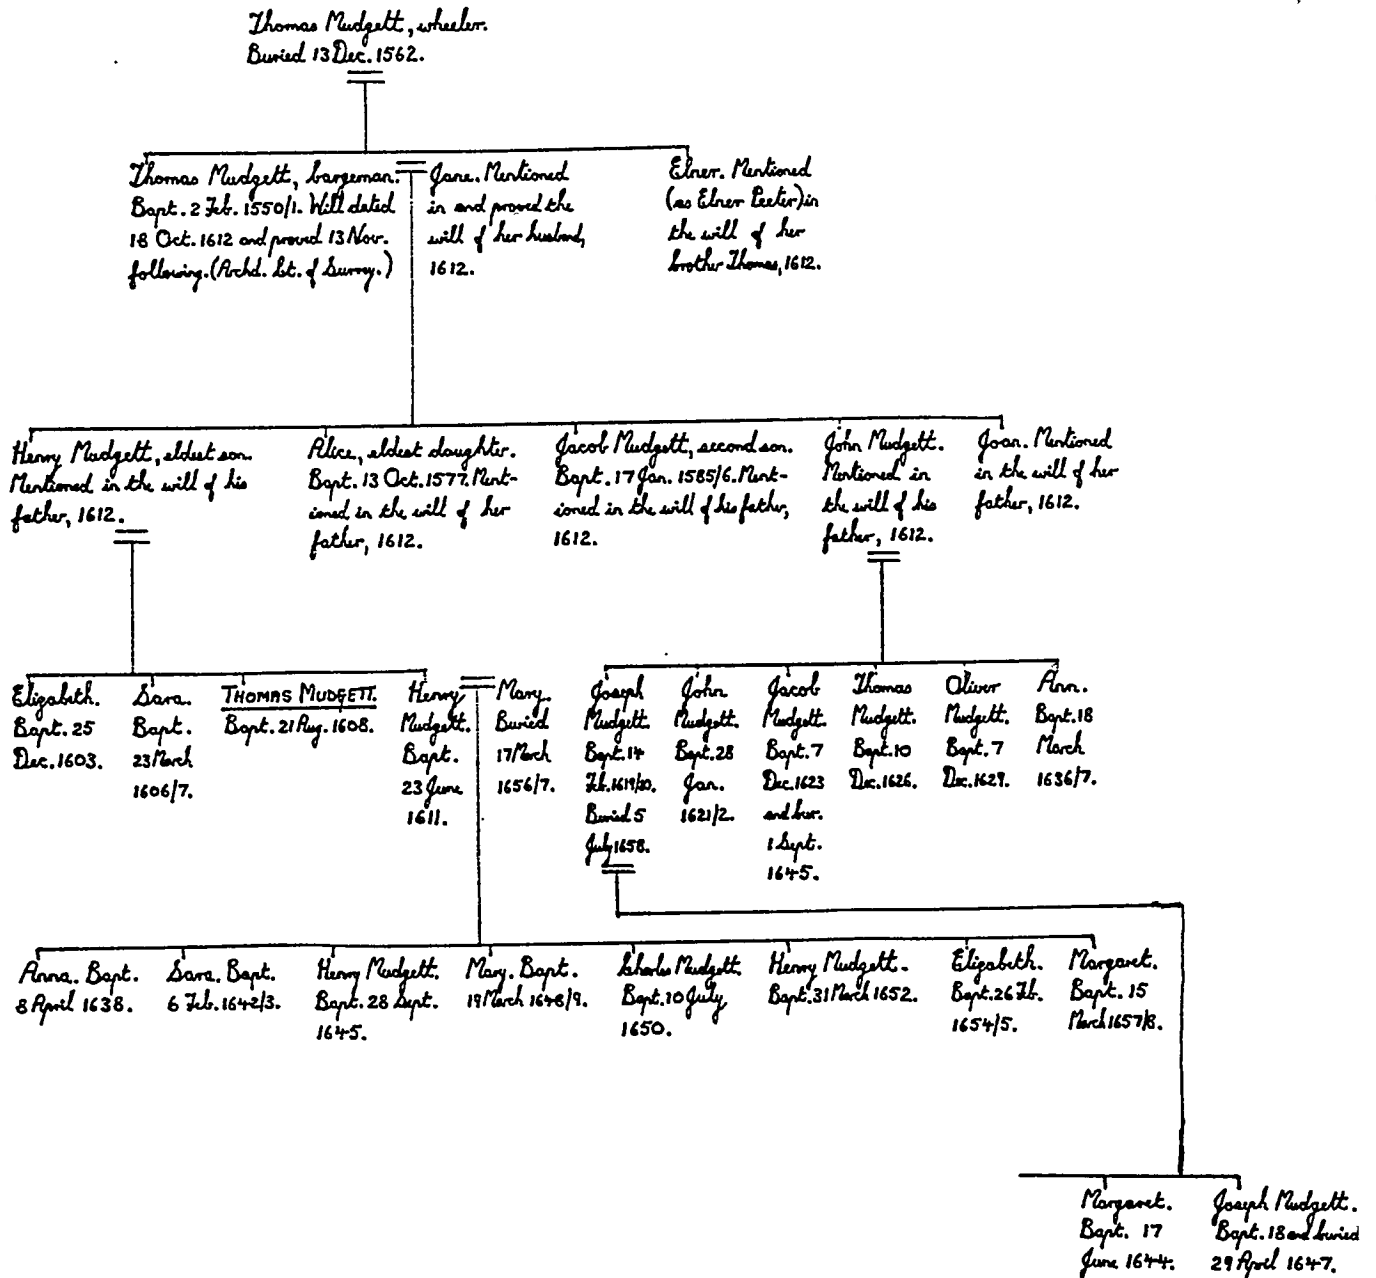

"At this point it was necessary to call a halt to the work for the Kingston registers had proved very time consuming to search. I must, however, sound a note of warning at this stage: although on balance I think it is probable that your ancestor did come from Kingston, it seems to me that the chances of actually proving this assertion and of correctly identifying his parents are very slight.

"I am sorry to have to report such a disappointing result."

INTRODUCTION

From 1st Mudgett Genealogy

by

Mildred and Bruce Mudgett

1961

It was once thought that the Mudgett ancestry might be unique in not sharing that dubious distinction of so many family trees of claiming an ancestor on the heavily overloaded fleet of William the Conqueror. But no! Both the Battle Abbey Rolls and the Domesday Book contain the name of Rolph Mudge. Being there, he was either like Will Rogers' ancestor "on the reception committee" when William arrived or was one of William's invaders. And, in whichever role, he must have survived the invasion and acquired enough land to be listed in Domesday Book.

A possible further confirmation of the French origin of the family is found in a tradition which has come down in a least two widely separated branches of the family. That story is that the name was originally Muguet, the French word for lily-of-the-valley.

According to a manuscript in the British Museum (Mss 14:311 fol 67) the original English spelling of the name was M U G G E als Mudg. There seems to be little doubt that the MUDGE and MUDGETT families come from a common ancestor. One explanation of the different spellings, which has been offered, is the branch of the family which settled in Devonshire used MUDGE while those who remained around Co. Surrey and London were MUDGET or MUDGETT. "Surnames" by Ernest Weekly (p. 69) says "Mudge" ; a Devon and Cornwall name for mud, swamp." The surname is common in both shires.

"Memorials: being a Genealogical, Biographical and Historical Account of the name Mudge in America from 1638-1868" by Alfred Mudge states that this branch of the family traces its ancestry to Rev. Zachary Mudge, D. D. of St. Andrews, Plymouth, England. There were, however, three Mudge brothers Jarvis, Thomas and Gilbert in Malden, Mass. as early as 1638. This Thomas (according to American Genealogy by Virkus 7:870) was born cir 1624 and therefore could not have been the ancestor of the Mudgetts, the emigrant Thomas, who was reportedly born in 1614.

Guildford (or Guildeford) Co., Surrey, England is the place where the Mudgetts are first mentioned after the Domesday entry. Geoffrey Mugge was a Member of Parliament in 1383; Seneschal of Guilford in 1413 and again in 1426. His son Thomas was Seneschal or Mayor of Guildford in 1471-3. Thomas had a son Thomas, Jr., whose son, Walter was the parish priest in the church of St. Mary of Guilford in 1474/5. In his will, proved in 1795, Walter mentions the arms to be engraved on the tomb of relatives buried in the church, he being buried in the church-yard. Daniel was the son of Walter and married Isabell, daughter and heiress of John Hill als Hull, and widow of Thomas Engler. Daniel was Mayor of Guilford in 1537 and provided "a harness and fill on his own hands for the King's war." Walter's daughter, Marguerite (and sister of Daniel) married Sir Christopher More, Knight of Losley and owner of Westbury Manor in Compton. A claim has been made that Daniel, Jr. moved to Devonshire and his son Thomas (b. 1532) had a son Geoffrey (b. 1582). This Geoffrey was said to be the ancestor of the emigrant ancestor, Thomas Mudgett (1614-1685). But the British Museum Mss 14: 311 fol 62 formerly 67 says Daniell, Sr. "obit s. p." died without progeny. However, this line of descent is given here (on the next page) on the possibility that research will prove there was a Daniel, Jr.

MUDGETTS IN VIRGINIA

"Tho. Mudgett

520 acres Chas. City Co. and part in Surry Co. 19 December 1663. Upon Wbr of upper chapokes Creek beg. at a great poplar in said branch thence S E by S at the head of Geo. Burcher's land 320 po to red oak nigh the spring bottom thence S W by W & Trans of 5 persons; Jno Brasbridge, Richard Dorington, Wm. Pinion, Elis. Stacy, Edw. Genings, Elinor Read, Tho. Gregory, Rose Bird, Wm Gregory, Roger Best, Mary Fluell."

"Wm. Ridley sold to Jno Mudgett, 550 acres in Henrico Co. 2 June 1665 in Bristol Parish on North side of Appomattox River."

Thomas' daughter, Elizabeth, was baptized in Parish of Martin' Brandon, Charles Citie Co, on 1-9-1660 and his wife Ellinor buried there 6-15-1660. In Feb. 1665, Thomas held 520 acres in Bristol Parish, N of Appomattox river south of neck called tunstalls S.S.W. - a location close to John Mudgetts 550 acres described above.

After these entries, the Mudgetts disappear from Virginia Records, except for the will of Ann Mudgett (4-9-1689): Wills of Surrey Co. IV:144.

COAT-OF-ARMS

Since the Thomas Mudge of Malden (born circa 1624) does not seem to be the Thomas Mudgett (born in 1614) who was the ancestor of the American Mudgetts, the Mudge coat-of-arms cannot be used by the Mudgetts. The Mudge part of the More coat-of-arms agrees with the arms described in the British Museum manuscript: "Argent a chevron between three Wyverns sable (called cockatrices)" (Harl Mss 1397 fo 146b).

A story has come down in the family that a coat-of-arms, similar to the Mudge one with the addition of a red crest, as first granted during the siege of St. Jean d'Arc under Richard I in 1191. They were the arms of a Saracen chieftain captured in battle and conferred upon the victor. The cockatrices are said to be Oriental in origin.

The Field Marshal under William the Conqueror, to whom land was given for his valued services, spelled the name Moucherett. The spelling of Mochett appeared in a will as late as 1582. However, these traditions have not yet been verified.

The subsequent history of the Mudgetts is consistent though with many of these traditions and the early English history of the family. One or more branches of the family has been constantly pushing westward in search of better land and riches. The early interest in ships and ship building was carried on for several generations in Maine. One Mudgett died in Australia, one in China, another in Panama. There were Mudgetts in the California Gold Rush and later in the Klondike.

Another characteristic was the fondness of the family in naming their sons for famous men, especially U. S. Presidents. Starting back in England with Hamlet Mudgett, there were:

2 George Washington Mudgetts
1 John Quincy Adams Mudgett
1 William Henry Harrison Mudgett
1 Franklin Pierce Mudgett
2 Andrew Jackson Mudgetts
7 Benjamin Franklin Mudgetts
2 Ralph Waldo Mudgetts
1 Isaac Newton Mudgett
1 William Pitt Mudgett
1 Henry Livingstone Mudgett
1 Ulysses Grant Mudgett
1 Decatur Mudgett and
1 Webster Mudgett

Note: Were they perhaps Stephen Decatur and Daniel Webster
Mudgett? And was Marquis D. named for Marquis de Lafayette?

THOMAS MUDGETT OF SALISBURY, MASS. AND HIS DESCENDANTS

THOMAS MUDGETT (1) shipwright was in Salisbury, MA as early as 1663 and evidence points to the fact that he was the Thomas Mudgett of Virginia. The tradition has been that he was the son of Thomas Mudgett (born in England in 1614) who married Ann Woretton or Worton. There was a death in 1663 in Salisbury of an unidentified Mudgett. Whether this was Thomas, Sr. or of his son John, who was also in Virginia, is unknown. For this genealogy Thomas, Jr., is called Thomas (1). He married on 10-6-1665 SARAH (CLEMENT) MORRILL, a widow with a large family. He married in 1695, ANN (FRENCH) LONG, another widow. (b. 3-10-1659)

Children:

MARY	(2)	b. 4-30-1667	d. 11-27-1710	m. John Quinby (or Quimby)
TEMPERANCE	(2)	b. 10-10-1670	d.
WILLIAM	(2)	b. 10-16-1696	d. before 6-15-1730
THOMAS	(2)	b. 1-3-1698	d. 1745	m. Elizabeth Smith
JOHN	(2)	b. 12-17-1700	d. between 4-18 and 5-28-1746	m. Susanna Scribner.

There are several pages of court records about the operation of Thomas' shipyard, which had to be omitted because of lack of space but two items may be noted. Besides the shipyard, he had two-thirds interest in a fulling mill and owned half a sawmill.

In 1690, forty-one men of Salisbury became Freemen of Mass. Bay Colony but of the forty-one, only three were given the title "Mr." and Thomas was one of the three. This suggests that he came from a good English background for the title was reserved for ministers, magistrates and important members of the community.

SECOND GENERATION OF THOMAS¹ (MARY² and TEMPERANCE²)

MARY MUDGETT (2) (Thomas 1) born in Salisbury, Mass, on 4-30-1667; died there on 11-27-1710. She married JOHN QUINBY (b. 1665) son of Robert Quinby. (or Quimby)

Children:

John Quinby	b. 7-8-1688
Jeremiah "	b. 8-24-1689
Eleazur "	b. 5-13-1691
David "	b. 7-19-1693
Sarah "	b. 3-31-1695
Robert "	b. 12-13-1701
Jonathan "	b. 6-12-1704
Jacob "	b. 3-13-1706
Jethro "	b. 8-17-1710

Jethro was brought up by his Aunt Temperance, after his mother's death, as recorded in a payment by his father for his care.

TEMPERANCE MUDGETT (2) (Thomas 1) assumed born in Salisbury, MA on 10-10-1670. There is no date of death. Apparently she never married.

When President Jefferson applied the Embargo Act to shipments to Canada, northern Vermont inhabitants were incensed, because they depended on sales of potash in Canada. The Federalists of Boston came to the rescue; purchased a ferry-boat on Lake Champlain and rechristening it "The Black Snake," placed William Truman in charge as captain. In a skirmish with officers of the militia ordered by Jefferson to stop the illegal trade, a man was killed. William and his crew were jailed and their first trial before Royall Tyler, resulted in a hung jury. They were sent back to jail for a year, until the next court session, at which time William Truman was acquitted. Whereupon William Truman, his father David and brother David started west, settling in Niagara Co., NY in 1810-11.

THE BALLAD OF THE BLACK SNAKE

In the year eighteen hundred and eight,
The Embargo Law in Vermont state,
Did so enrage our furious Feds
They would cross the line or lose their heads.
Our rulers meant to be obeyed,
And sent some men to stop the trade;
Some of our soldiers did combine
In arms, to guard the northern line.

A smuggling set in the Black Snake
Resolved to sail upon the lake,
They armed themselves to fight their way,
And thus they thought to win the day.
The men who laid this smuggling plot
Was Sheffield, Mudgett, Dean and Mott,
And many more who were not clever
Spread out their sails on Onion River,
All for to load their boat again
And then to sail across the line.

But soldiers were so well agreed
Their plan did not so well succeed.
Our officers found where she lay,
The orders were, Take her away;
The Revenue was then sent on,
Commanded by one Farrington.

And when this smuggling rebel crew
Heard of the boat, the Revenue,
Unto the house of Joy's they went,
And there one night in private spent
There each agreed upon a man
And Mudgett took the sole command;
He, like a Tory, or a friend,
The lives of many meant to end.

To carry on this wicked deed,
With a large gun they did proceed
And by the Snake they made a stand,
To guard the same, stood on the land.
Then Farrington sailed from the lake
And thus he to the rebels spake,
"Orders I have to take the Snake
And all the smugglers on the lake."

This raised their blood, to arms they flew,
For to keep off the Revenue
And execute this wicked deed,
That did from rebel hearts proceed.
Then Mudgett gave the threatening word
To all the men that was on board,
"The first that steps into the Snake
A lifeless corpse of him I'll make."

But Farrington feared not his threats,
Into the smuggler boat he steps;
There like a warrior bold and brave
His blood and honor thought to save.
Now let us turn and view the scheme,
And who begun this bloody scene;
It was Sheffield, and his Indian skill,
The crimson blood of Drake did spill.
With hearts unfeeling they went then
To spill the blood of honest men;
Ormsby and Marsh then prostrate fell;
Before these wicked imps of hell,
And bold and warlike Farrington
His crimson blood they caused to run.

These men were tried all for the same crime,
Why not alike their sentence find;
Dean was sentenced to the halter,
The rest convicted of manslaughter.
Author unknown

Dean was tried, convicted and executed. Mott was tried, convicted and sentenced to ten years hard labor, the pillory for one hour, and fifty lashes at the public whipping post. Mudgett, sometimes called Truman, and at others William, was of Highgate, and was acquitted.
