ROGERS FAMILY DATA
In the
New England Historical Genealogical Register

Some Bride now is, and, afterwards, in 1638, "planting lands," near relatives at Colchester, in that County, at the time of his decease in 1666. He married a daughter of William Warner, sister of Daniel and John Warner, all of them people of consideration among the first settlers. He left three sons, Nathaniel, the eldest, John, and Thomas; and five daughters, Sarah Masse, of Salem, Abigail Treadwell, of Ipswich, Elizabeth, Hannah, and Lydia. The last name became Lydia Rogers before the decease of her mother in 1671. Nathaniel, the eldest son, with his wife Lydia, continued to reside in Ipswich until after the decease of his mother, who bequeathed to him the "flax now growing." He was probably father of Nathaniel, who was born, 1669, and died at Ipswich, Oct. 13, 1717, who was father of Capt. Nathaniel, who was born, April 24, 1699, and died, May 27, 1790. The Rev. Jonathan French, of North Hampton, in an article in the Gen. Register, vol. 1, p. 13, states that the Rev. Nathaniel Wells, minister of Deerfield, New Hampshire, was "son of Dea. Nathaniel Wells, whose father was also Dea. Nathaniel Wells, who removed to Wells, Me., from Ipswich, Mass., and who was a son of Dea. Thomas Wells of Ipswich." I suspect that there is an error here, and that the first Dea. Nathaniel Wells, was son of John, second son of Thomas, of Ipswich, who married Sarah, daughter of Francis Littlefield, and settled in Wells, which received its name from this family, having, previously, been called Preston. His father transferred to him, by a deed of gift, all his lands in that place, being about three hundred and fifty acres. To Thomas, the youngest son, the father, by his Will, dated, July 3, 1666, bequeathed two hundred and fifty pounds sterling, to be paid to him "when he came to the age of 22 years, 4 months, and 10 days." By the same instrument, it appears that he was born "Hith, 17th mo, 1616, or January 11, 1617, of the present style." Why this precise period was fixed on for the payment of the legacy, does not appear. Is it possible that the good deacon could have doubted in Astology? He also provides for the contingency of his sons "going to College, and bequeathes to him "all the books I bought for his use, and my phisic books, and the books called orthodox evangelist." Two books which would probably come under the latter description, "The Soul's preparation for Christ," and "Parkins upon the Creed," he had given to his daughters. From this bequest of "phisic books," the inference is drawn that he was a physician. The evidence is not quite conclusive, yet I know of no other. The books were appraised at £8. 6s. 3d., a respectable medical library for those days. This was probably the Thomas Wells who, according to Farnes, was the first minister of Antebury, ordained, in 1672, and died, July 10, 1721, aged eighty-five. If so, he was eighty-seven years and six months old at the time of his decease.

John Rogers, son of the Rev. Nathaniel, great-grand-son [?] of John, the celebrated martyr of Smithfield, was born in England, about 1630, and came to New England with his father, in 1636. He was graduated at Harvard College, in 1649, and studied both phisic and divinity. He commenced preaching as colleague, or assistant to Mr. Hubbard, July 4, 1656. He continued to preach occasionally, and to practice in his other profession, until 1683, when, on the decease of Union Oakes, President of Harvard College, he was chosen to succeed him, and was installed, August 12, 1683. He died, July 20, 1684, the day succeeding the first commencement after his installation. He married Elizabeth, daughter of General Daniel Davenport, who, after the decease of her husband, returned to Ipswich, where she died, July 13, 1723, in the eighty-second year of her age. They did not join the church until January 11, 1633, when they "came into full communion." Their children were Elizabeth, Margaret, John, Daniel, Nathaniel, and Patience.

A nuncupative Will of Nathaniel Rogers, father of the above, was proved September 26, 1652, by the oaths of Mr. Ezekiel Cliver, and Deacon John Whipple. It is in the handwriting of Mr. Cliver,—who was, first, master of the Grammar School in this town, and, afterwards, the distinguished master of the Latin School in Boston,—and is a very neat specimen of the chirography of the age. The caption runs thus:—

"The last will and testament of Mr. Nathaniel Rogers, Pastor of the Church of Christ, at Ipswich, as was taken from his own mouth, July 3, Anno Domi.

A clause in this will has been misunderstood as implying a charge of inefficiency, and want of industry in our learned and worthy physician. It is in these words; "To my son John, to prevent expectation of a Double portion, I have not so bequeathed; he hath never been by any labor serviceable to his brethren, but hath been upheld by their labor and pain, while he hath been determining his way; therefore, I give and bequeath to him an equal portion with his other brethren, viz.; y<sup>e</sup> some of one hundred pound of my estate in Old England, and one hundred pound of my estate in New England." He makes like bequests to his sons Nathaniel, Samuel, and Timothy. To his son Ezekiel, "twenty pound, which he shall have liberty to take in my books if he please." Assuredly, Mr. Rogers does not intend any censure on his eldest son, or disapprobation of his conduct, but merely to do justice to his younger sons, who, by their labor and "paining," had helped to acquire the property, and to contribute to their elder brother's support while obtaining his education. For a like reason, undoubtedly, he gives to his son Ezekiel, only twenty pounds, because his estate had already been at the charge of giving to him a liberal education.

Philimon Dean and his brother John, sons of Deac. John Dean or Davis, seem to have effected a separation of the two names; Philimon and his descendants using the former orthography, while John and his, adopt the latter. Philimon was born about 1616; joined the church "in full communion," February 8, 1673-4; and was admitted a freeman, in March of the same year. He married Mary Thomason, October 7, 1685; after whose decease, he married Ruth Convers, December 25, 1690. By the last wife he had Philimon and Edward, twins, born July 17, 1685; and a daughter, Ruth, born August 24, 1698. Philimon removed to Newbury. He married, August 20, 1742, Hannah York, of Ipswich. Edward, the twin brother, died before his father, and left a widow. The inscription on the grave-stone of Doctor Dean is as follows.

in reviving the grammar school, which had fallen into neglect during the dark age which preceded his time. Elderly people yet living remember his contemporaries, and hand down the tradition that he maintained a degree of state and splendor in his domestic establishment, unequalled since his time. He kept his clavichord, with servants in livery, and made other displays of wealth and rank, which indicate him as the best of the mistocracy. He died August 12, 1766, aged 61 years. The inscription on his grave-stone closes with the appropriate motto,

"sic transit gloria mundi."

John, the second son, married Sarah, daughter of Francis Littlefield, senior, and settled in Wells, in the County of York, Maine,—which received its name from this family, having previously been called Preston—where his father had given him, by a deed of gift, about 550 acres of land.

Francis Holmes was probably the son of James and Mary Holmes, who were inhabitants of Ipswich in 1694. He died May 12, 1758, in the 59th year of his age. He owned, and resided in the ancient house, yet standing, at the corner of Maine street and Summer street. He married Mary Gibbons, with whom he was published March 29, 1732, and who survived him. The children he left were John, who remained in Ipswich; Francis, who removed to Newbury, where he dwelt in 1760; Mary, wife of John Parriman; Josiah and Margaret Holmes. His widow made her signature with a mark. The estate was appraised at £150, 9s. 4d., of which the house and garden constituted £80, and "part of a barn w<sup>ch</sup> Nath<sup>l</sup> Smith on y<sup>e</sup> meet house hill," £4.

Samuel Rogers, son of the Rev. John, and grandson of the Rev. Doct. John, President of Harvard College, was born August 31, 1700. He was graduated at Harvard College in 1725; married Hannah Wise, January 1, 1735, and died December 24, 1772. With an extensive practice in his profession, he found time to exercise the offices of Town Clerk, Register of Probate, Justice of the Peace, Representative of the General Court, and Colonel of a regiment.

John Coffey was born in 1725. He was of a remarkably short-lived family, yet himself attained the age of eighty-seven years. His father, Robert, died July 12, 1780, in the thirty-seventh year of his age. His mother, Margaret, youngest daughter of Deacon John Stuntford, died October 7, 1727, in the thirty-second year of her age. Samuel, his father's brother, died September 4, 1720, aged twenty-four years. Joseph, his grandfather, died December 26, 1767, in his thirty-sixth year. He may have inherited his longevity from his maternal grandparents, Deacon Stuntford, who died May 27, 1733, aged eighty-two years, and Margaret, his wife, daughter of Thomas and Martha Harris, who died May 18, 1750, aged ninety-three. The name is frequently written on our records "Coffey," which probably represented the popular pronunciation. On a subscription, by the grand-jury, "Mr. Joseph," toward purchasing a bell in 1699, the name is spelt "Chaffe." The doctor had great respectability, and considerable political influence. He was for many years representative of the town at the General Court, but falling into the unsuccessful party, in revolutionary times, was obliged to leave his country. He settled at St. Andrews, in the British Province of New Brunswick, where he died in 1812.

* ROBERT CURRY, the author of the well known "True Wonders of the Invisible World," never being to Ipswich, died at Roxbury, 19 April, 1719. We shall be very glad to have some account of him—a man so near to the subject of his age, as he unquestionably was. Will some of our correspondents look to this subject? EDITOR.

Be pleased to understand the work of god amongst the Indians upon [ ] seems to me to prosper. There are here two churches consisting of forty [ ] members that hath hitherto walked in sobriety; there are now seven [ ] every Lords daye, supplied with cleane teachers that are able and doe counsel to promote faith & holyness. The chiefe men of every place are [ ] and doe put forth their abilities to uphold the wor-shipp of god & all s [ ] government. There are about one hundred and forty men that are not tainted w [ ] drunkennesse which is severely punished in every place. Witchcraft & [ ] are here out of use. I hope the Lord will grant the lyke blessing to o<sup>r</sup> Indians touching drunkennesse; there are some that are already of the worst that lites it. At Elizabeths Island there are 40 families & a teacher which doe also carry out the wor-shipp of God, & they also doe joy the drunkards [ ] Its strange to see how readily they stripp themselves to receive punishment for this sin of w<sup>ch</sup> o<sup>r</sup> nation is much gayly. All vessels that com hither & [ ] passe through the Sound, Rhode Islanders and some of our Inhabitants, doe supply them & its very hard to take them. I am not out of hope but that the generality will be convinced of their folly & give it quite over, that is, the use of rum. Thus matters stand here at present. I conceive you can contradict it. And for Nantucket, things are in a very comfortable way. I sent 4 understanding Indians thither purposely, whose going was very ysefull in several respects too longe to recite here. The honored Commissioners hath bene pleased to expresse their readiness to encourage, such as are employed in this service. There are twelve here; Incomine and Topinosh have had 10<sup>e</sup> several years; they well deserve it; the rest fyty shillings a piece w<sup>ch</sup> is forty one pound. Metack hath had sometimes more: for John Mayhew he is laborious and the Indians with him are universally satisfied, who intended to come vnto yo<sup>r</sup> honored selves but where you now live he cannot. For my selfe, this is the 31 years that I have been vpon this Employment. I suppose seven years I received nothing though I was at much charge about it; yf I am not more serviceable now then ever as it is with me to this work my tyme hath not been well spent. I expect a paper this morning from the Indians, that contains what was done at Nantucket w<sup>ch</sup> I hope will come ere the vessel goes. I began this last night. I was much desired to write to yo<sup>r</sup> worthy selves to give something towards a meetinge house and also schooling. If ten pounds may be had it will much for their encouragement whome without murmuring hath borne the shortnings of their wanted allowance. I will add this, that to this hour we never have had the least cause to my best vnderstanding to suspect any trouble from the Indians, but henc and doe carry things a very well; John Mayhew his letter is not yet come to my hand; I doubt it will not; I shall send it yf possible; this opportunity is slender, w<sup>ch</sup> I was very

THE ROGERS FAMILY OF NEWPORT, R. I., AND MIDDLE-TOWN, CONN.

[Communicated by Esos Joussez, Jr. Esq., of Chicago, Ill.]

The following genealogical data, being the Bible record of the family of John Rogers of Middletown, Conn., and of his father, Joseph Rogers, of Newport, Rhode Island, and afterwards of Middletown, have been faithfully copied from the same Bible.

I think it not a little singular that Farmer and Savage are both silent regarding this Newport-family of Rogers, as I find in the "Rhode Island Colonial Records" that James Rogers was admitted freeman at Newport, Sept. 7, 1610; was elected sergeant of the General Assembly 15 March, 1643, and continued such until 1664; and was also the solicitor-general in 1657. In 1676 his widow, Mary Rogers (then Mary Peabody), petitions to settle his accounts. And from the same records I find that Thomas and John Rogers were admitted freemen at Newport in 1668.

I wish to ascertain, if possible, who was the ancestor of this Joseph Rogers of Newport. It will be observed that the Bible record gives the time of his death (Oct. 1711), place of burial (Newport), and the Christian name (Elizabeth) of his wife, who died at Tiverton, R. I.

"JOHN ROGERS, was married to Patience [born] [the family say—Miller] November 22, 1757, by the Reverend Mr. William Russell. John was Born Sept. 18, 1758, on Monday, 9 P.M. Abigail was Born on Tuesday at 9 A.M., 15 April, 1760. Sarah was Born January 28, 1762, on Thursday. Joseph was Born May 5, 1761. Timothy was Born March 3<sup>d</sup> at 10 A.M., 1766, on Monday. Consant and Patience was Born the 23<sup>d</sup> April, 1768, on a Friday, both at a Birth. William was Born July 26, 1770, on Thursday at 10 in the Morning. A Son Born 25 July 1772 and Died y<sup>e</sup> 28 July y<sup>e</sup> 3<sup>o</sup> day after born. Hannah was Born May 4, 1771, on Wednesday at 4 o'clock, P.M. Jenny was Born March 24, 1778, on Thursday at 11 o'clock at night. Joseph Died Dec. 25, 1783, at Oneyes in High Spinoda. Hannah Died Nov. 22<sup>d</sup> 1793, aged 19<sup>o</sup> years on Friday at about 6 o'clock. Much lamented by all that were acquainted with her.

March 27, 1805. This day received the melancholy announcement of the Death of my son John. He fell overboard and was drowned on the Coast of Carolina, on the first day of this Month at 8 o'clock in the Morning. O! sad news to relate. May God be pleased to sanctify this piercing stroke of his providence to all our family, and which we call to remembrance his good and amiable disposition, and the many kind offices received from him, and how much disappointed we are in our future hopes and expectations, and now he is no more, may his memory be precious to us as long as life lasts.

August 25, 1807. My beloved Wife Died at 6 o'clock, afternoon. September 15, 1808. John Rogers was married to Elizabeth Whitmore by the Rev<sup>d</sup> Broch, Huntington on a Wednesday and she Died the 15<sup>o</sup> February following aged 67 years much lamented.

HISTORY.—History touches all human life, on every side. It instructs the individual. It gives a new tone to a community. It elevates a nation. It ennobles a generation. It inspires the human race. All that may be known, re-learned, felt, loved, hated, venerated or shunned; all things and all ideas, cognizable by the human mind, or which excite human emotion, all spiritual as well as all material things, are found within its domain.—*Howell, 564 A. #### THOMAS PIERCE, OF DORCHESTER, AND WIFE MARY.

Communicated by WILLIAM B. TRASK, Esq., of Boston.

IN the "Book of the Lockes," p. 317, it is stated that Thomas Pierce married Mary, daughter of George Proctor; that she was born in 1642, and died March 22, 1701, aged 62. This statement in regard to Thomas Pierce and Mary Proctor has been republished in various works printed since the year 1803, the date of publication of the valuable book of the late Mr. Locke, above mentioned.

As Thomas and Mary Pierce were ancestors of mine, in the maternal line, I have naturally felt desirous of learning the whole truth, if possible, in regard to them. Careful research has accordingly been made among the early records, but I find no evidence, from any source, that Thomas Pierce married Mary Proctor, while there is sufficient proof, as will be shown, I think, that he wedded Mary Fry, of Weymouth. Her birth is given (Proc. viii. 318) as having occurred, 9 (11) 1641. Her elder sister, Elizabeth, who was united to Nathan Fiske, son of Nathan, of Watertown (see Bond's Watertown, p. 214, surname of said Elizabeth unknown to Dr. Bond), was born in Weymouth, 20 (10) 1630. In the unabbreviated will of William Fry, of Weymouth (who died Oct. 26, 1642, Reg. ii. 885) he gives his house and four acres of land, being his home lot, to his wife. After her decease, the same, with other lands, was to go to his two daughters, Elizabeth and Mary.

On the 15th of May, 1672, conveyance was made to Samuel White, of Weymouth (Suffolk Deeds, lib. xv. 456), of lands in that town, from Thomas Pierce, of Dorchester, and Mary his wife, and Nathan Fiske, of Watertown, and Elizabeth his wife. The lands, thus conveyed, the instrument informs us, were "recorded on Weymouth Towne book to William Fry, deceased, the reported father of the above rd Mary and Elizabeth." This deed to White is signed by the parties, Thomas Pierce, Mary Pierce, Nath. Fisk and Elizabeth Fisk, and was received and recorded at the Probate Office in Boston, Dec. 2, 1701.

Among the early entries of marriages, called the Suffolk County return to be seen at the Registrar's office in Boston, is the following: "Thomas Pierce to Mary" (surname not given), "by Mr. Bellingham, 3. 8. 1661." I feel confident that this is the record of the marriage of Mr. Pierce to Mary Fry.

In the Dorchester Cemetery stands a gravestone with the inscription (see Reg. iv. 277) "Mary Pierce [Wife to] Thomas Pierce [Aged 62 years] [Died March 22nd 1701." Is it not reasonable to suppose that this was Mary (Fry) Pierce and not Mary (Proctor) Pierce, as Mr. Locke has it, the gravestone inscription corresponding with the date of birth of Mary Fry as given in the returns from Weymouth, before mentioned?

Elizabeth and Mary Fry joined Dorchester Church in 1659, as we learn from the Church Records, volume one: "John Blackman & Sarah his wife & Elizabeth & Mary Fry, being dismissed from 1st Church of Weymouth, viz: the twelfth persons, they were all admitted y<sup>r</sup>. 10 (5) 59." Two years before the marriage of Thomas Pierce to "Mary," as recorded, Elizabeth and Mary Fry joined Dorchester church. Mary was at that time in the seventeenth year of her age.

Ten months and eighteen days after the marriage of Thomas and Mary Pierce, or "Pearses," a son Thomas was born to them. He eventually married Sarah, surname not learned. The will of Thomas, the second, made Oct. 16, 1730, was proved on the following ninth of November. He died Oct. 21, 1730, aged 68. Mentions his wife, to whom he gives the improvement of the West end of his dwelling house in Dorchester, a cow, fire wood and 30 pounds in money, or Bills of Credit on the Province. To "my eldest son Nathaniel" he gives a double share of his estate, and to "my other son Zebulon Peires" and my Daughter Judith Peire an Equal Share or Portion of my Estate after it is lawfully appritized or valued. These items are appropriate in this connection, as Mr. Locke remarks that the second Thomas Pierce "probably left no child," whereas there is, I think, a line of descent, from Nathaniel down to the present time.

George Proctor had a grant of three acres and a half of land in 1634. (Dorchester Town Records, p. 13.) I find no record of the birth, baptism, marriage or death of either Sarah or Mary Proctor, children of George Proctor. The History of Dorchester, page 73, says they "probably came with their parents." They were both living in 1663, for in the will of their father, dated January 27th of that year, he says: "I give unto my four Daughters viz' Sarah, Mary, Hannah & Abigail, 20 a peccc." If Mary had been the wife of Thomas Pierce he would naturally have designated her as my daughter Mary Pierce, for the marriage of "The" Pearce to "Mary" took place Oct. 3, 1661, nearly four months prior to the date of George Proctor's will.

HOPE ROGERS.

By James Swift Boston, Feb. 6, 1830, Mass.

The following imperfect record of Hope Rogers and his descendants is offered with the hope of eliciting something concerning his parents, brothers and sisters etc.

The first record thus far discovered is in Wipshaw County, Ga. given by the Hon. Rogers of Manfield bought lands of John Warden, in Wipshaw Co. Ga. Feb. 1745, 100 A. for 115 pounds sterling. He is called Nov. 15, 1745, James Rogers. This is one of his children as found in the

One correspondent writes that Hope had four wives and thirteen children, but fails to name any wife except Esther Mechem, or any children except the ten given in Windham records.

According to one tradition, he was the only son of Joseph Rogers, who married Sarah Cuvier (or Currier). Shortly after his marriage he joined an expedition to Fort Royal, where he was probably killed by the Indians, or French, as he was never heard from afterwards. Hope was so named in hopes of his father's return. The same tradition states that Joseph was one of four brothers who came from England and settled in Sibley, Mass.

This last clause does not strengthen one's faith in the first.

The children of Hope and Esther (Mechem) were:

- i. JOSIAH,<sup>2</sup> b. Aug. 5, 1716; d. infant.
- ii. ISHMAEL, b. July 7, 1717.

OSGOOD CARLETON.

By the Rev. Amos True, Somerville, Mass.

OSGOOD CARLETON, for a quarter of a century before 1810, was the leading teacher of mathematics and navigation in Boston. He had pupils from many portions of New England. It was the school of the day for instruction in navigation and in the art of map construction. As a teacher and cartographer he easily held a foremost rank. He was born in Nottingham, N. H., June 17, 1741; eldest son of Jeremiah Carleton and wife Eunice Taylor, and a grandson of Joseph Carleton of Newbury and wife Abigail, daughter of Christopher Osgood. Jeremiah Carleton, the father of Osgood, removed in his manhood years to Lynnborough, N. H. In the Carleton family were seven children:

- i. OSGOOD, b. June 17, 1741.
- ii. JEREMIAH, b. ———, 1743; m. Mary Hoyt; had eleven children, and settled upon the homestead in Lynnborough. He was a lieutenant at Bunker Hill.
- iii. MARY, m. Reuben Hatch, &c.
- iv. ANNE, m. (1st) John Johnson and m. (2d) David Putnam.
- v. THOMAS, killed at the raising of a meeting-house.
- vi. DAVID, slain at the battle of Bunker Hill.
- vii. EMERSON, was at Bunker Hill. He died at 1411, N. H., Dec. 8, 1836; m. and had three children.

Osgood Carleton enlisted, May 2, 1758, in the company of Captain Aaron Fay, Col. Ebenezer Nichols, and served seven months for the "Reduction of Canada." Resilience given as Litchfield. [Mass. Archives, xvi: 411.] April 6, 1759, aged eighteen years, and especially named as the son of Jeremiah Carleton, residing in Woburn, he was attached to the regiment of Colonel Ebenezer Tye, under command of General Jeffrey Amherst for invasion of Canada. The Regimental Return was dated at Dunstable [Mass. Arch., xvi: 378]. January 1st, 1760, he enlists as a private in the company of Captain Joseph Newhall, Colonel Jacob Payley, then stationed at Jonsburg. He was discharged December 20, 1760. [Mass. Archives, xviii, 452.] These separate enlistments, however, only show that he was in the way of the province. This service brought him into the home and service of Major-General John Henry Baskille, director and engineer of the king's Ordnance at Lonsburg and Annapolis. It was while rendering service in the army of Nova Scotia his talent for mathematics and his skill at original work were recognized, and he was made a part of the working force among the navigators and artificers of the King's army and navy. It is said that for five years young Carleton was under his tutelage in the provinces and on the high seas. General Baskille as chief engineer of Ordnance found in Carleton a young man of large ability and capable of hard work in engineering, piloting and navigation. Carleton's residence, with General Baskille, introduced him to affairs in Lonsburg, Annapolis, Liverpool and various colonies of the Kingdom in North America. But with all of Carleton's associations with officers of the royal army he kept close to the hearts of his countrymen, and on the outbreak of the war for independence he was ready to render service.

Previous to the war of the Revolution Osgood Carleton was a surveyor for a time of the New Hampshire Province and surveyed land in present Vermont, of which at that time the jurisdiction was a source of heated debate.

He was in his later years called upon to render valuable testimony concerning lands in Lynnborough, N. H., which he assisted in surveying.

Osgood Carleton was a patriot at the outbreak of the war for Independence. He was present at Bunker Hill, where his brother David was slain during the first year of the war. He was a sergeant in the company of Capt. John Wood, Col. Paul Dudley Sargent, and in 1775 was the quartermaster of 10th Continental Infantry. Afterwards, he served as a lieutenant. His physique, however, was such that he could not endure the hardships of campaigns, and he was assigned to the Corps of Invalids. During the part of the war he was much occupied in bearing despatches between Boston and Philadelphia, and in carrying money from the treasury of the Bay Province to the treasury of the Continental Congress, or to paymasters in the field.

* In Murdock's History of Nova Scotia, ii: 56, writing of Lonsburg in 1745, the author says of the New England militia: "As might be expected from militia, a want of order and discipline appeared in the New England troops. . . . They had Mr. Baskille's proposals for discipline and advantage of the night; and when they came terms of mutiny and went on their traditional merrymen, they made merry with the drums of mutiny and drank to their mutual healths." He made a report in 1760 of a quarrel concerning the erection of barracks by the 4000 men of British regulars at Lonsburg. [Nova Scotia Archives, pp. 702-706.] He was at Annapolis as lieutenant of Nova Scotia, ii: 468-471. He was at Fort Mifflin, Philadelphia, as lieutenant, General Baskille was no participant, and in 1763 he was quartermaster in the engineering staff employed in the years before the American Revolution. He was a surveyor in Vermont, but it has not come to our knowledge. His career is certainly worth a page or two. [N. H. S. C. Papers, xvii: 31-34.]
