

Candace L Daigle

From: Paula Gilman [REDACTED]
Sent: Monday, June 18, 2018 11:48 AM
To: 'John Dickey'; [REDACTED]
'Pat & Linda Clarke'; 'Connie Widger'
Cc: 'Candy Daigle'
Subject: RE: Question from the Canterbury Historical Society

I am forwarding this to Stephen Hopkins and to Doug Towle. Below is what I found on internet:

Paula

Born in Gilmanton, New Hampshire, USA on 15 Nov 1777. Noah Ranlet married Rachel Osgood and had 1 child. He passed away on 17 Sep 1827 in Gilmanton, New Hampshire, USA.

Family Members

Parents

Unavailable

Unavailable

Spouse(s)

Rachel Osgood

1777 - Unknown

Children

Charles Ranlet

1808 - 1861

Auction:

American Furniture & Decorative Arts - 2337

Location:

Boston

Date / Time :

November 04, 2006 3:00PM

Description:

Pine Cased Dwarf Clock, Noah Ranlet, Gilmanton, New Hampshire, c. 1820, a scroll top capping a glazed dial opening, rectangular waist door with oval pendulum aperture flanked by plain quarter columns all on a bracket foot base with scrolled apron and housing an eight-day time and strike, weight powered brass movement engraved on the back Ranlet, front hung pendulum and 8 in. diameter painted iron Arabic numeral dial signed Noah Ranlet, Gilmanton, (restoration), ht. 46 1/2 in.

Literature: A similar example is illustrated in Charles Parsons, New Hampshire Clocks and Clockmakers, pp.

164-165, with biographical information on pp. 328-329.
Estimate $4,000-6,000

Keywords

Noah Ranlet, Gilmanton, New Hampshire, Clocks, Pendulum

From: John Dickey [REDACTED]
Sent: Monday, June 18, 2018 10:23 AM
To: [REDACTED]; Paula Gilman [REDACTED]
Pat & Linda Clarke [REDACTED]; Connie Widger [REDACTED]
Cc: Candy Daigle [REDACTED]
Subject: Fwd: Question from the Canterbury Historical Society

Hi: Does anyone have any information that could help with this request?

John

Sent from my iPad

Begin forwarded message:

From: "Robert Scarponi" [REDACTED]
Date: June 18, 2018 at 8:14:07 AM EDT
To: jdickey@metrocast.net
Subject: Question from the Canterbury Historical Society

Good morning Mr. Dickey...

Do you folks have any information about a clockmaker named Noah Ranlet who was working about 1810, presumably in Gilmanton? We are trying to determine if a grandfather clock was made in Gilmanton or perhaps, in Canterbury. I am asking as a result of an inquiry by a family that owns a clock attributed to Ranlet.

I would appreciate any information you can provide.

Bob Scarponi
President Canterbury Historical Society
[REDACTED]

Candace L Daigle

From: [REDACTED]
Sent: Monday, June 18, 2018 10:58 AM
To: John Dickey
Subject: Re: Fwd: Question from the Canterbury Historical Society

From here I can only see:

Noah Rundlet and the cite is Records of the Congregational Church in Gilmanton. Being the records kept by Isaac Smith Pastor of the Old Smith Meeting House et als. NH Historical Society. I can try to check further, but I'm not sure when. Still owe you the Town Farm docs.

On 06-18-2018 10:23 AM, John Dickey wrote:

Hi: Does anyone have any information that could help with this request?

John

Sent from my iPad

Begin forwarded message:

From: "Robert Scarponi" [REDACTED]
Date: June 18, 2018 at 8:14:07 AM EDT
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Question from the Canterbury Historical Society

Good morning Mr. Dickey...

Do you folks have any information about a clockmaker named Noah Ranlet who was working about 1810, presumably in Gilmanton? We are trying to determine if a grandfather clock was made in Gilmanton or perhaps, in Canterbury. I am asking as a result of an inquiry by a family that owns a clock attributed to Ranlet.

I would appreciate any information you can provide.

Bob Scarponi
President Canterbury Historical Society
[REDACTED]

