

Shellcamp Dam Construction

Workmen from the New Hampshire Water Resources Board have begun replacing the dam on Shellcamp Pond located in Gilmanton. The project, which is slated to be finished in three months, will see the old structure, built before the turn of the century, completely replaced by a concrete, steel, and wood dam.