

Scriven Arts Colony

Gilmanton, New Hampshire

POETRY READINGS, FILM SCREENINGS, AND MORE IN AN OLD
NEW ENGLAND BARN

HOME ABOUT CALENDAR OF EVENTS BLOG
DIRECTIONS FOR PROSPECTIVE PRESENTERS
CONTACT

← BACK TO ALL EVENTS

Barn Owls: An Evening of Poetry

Saturday, August 6, 2016

7:00 PM – 8:30 PM

Google Calendar · ICS

It is rumored that poet Robert Frost once slept at the Scriven Arts Colony, his wizened brow against the splintery floor of the barn. But the old curmudgeon is dead now, and it falls to his heirs to reinvent New England poetry. Come watch them in action as we deliver readings from Gilmanton summer resident Sharon Olson, author of the acclaimed collection, The Long Night of Flying, and Vermont poet William Stratton, a Pushcart Prize nominee whose muscular, plainspoken poems celebrate the natural world and the grit of hardworking country people. An additional poet, Katherine Ferrier, will bring her 1950 manual typewriter to craft spontaneous poems upon request. Ferrier is the impresario behind WREN, an art gallery and community hub in Bethlehem, NH.

PLEASE NOTE THAT THE START TIME FOR THIS EVENT HAS BEEN CHANGED TO 7 P.M.

Earlier Event: July 29

Book Discussion: Peyton Place

Later Event: August 20

Ichiilish Daik: Going to the Horses
