50 Years Ago (1969)

B. Stafford Good, 81, of Gilmanton, noted illustrator and artist, died, Oct. 28. A native of England, he had resided in Delaware and Pennsylvania before coming here. He had given three of his illustrations for "Two Penniless Princesses" to the Laconia Public Library, where they were displayed in the Children's Room.

The Laconia Citizen - October 27, 2007

50 YEARS AGO (1957)

Dorothea Hilliard was unanimously re-elected president of the Laconia Art Group at the annual meeting, Oct. 21. Melba Hodgkins was elected first vice president; Edward Ray, second vice president; Elsie Corriveau, treasurer; Phyllis Smith, secretary; Stafford Good, Wilfred Marsland, Frederick Robbins, Ethel Renfrew and Bob Erickson, directors. "B. Stafford Good of Gilmanton, the noted story book and magazine illustrator and artist who has presented the library with some of his finest work, gave a most informative talk ... Another notable in our midst, Bob Montana of Meredith, the well-known Archie cartoonist, made several personalized cartoons autographed by Archie and himself for various members of the club."
