Stoneham, MA

DAVIS, Phillip Malcolm Of Winthrop, MA (formerly of Lynnfield and Boston), age 82, departed this life after a brief illness (and devastating Patriots playoff loss), surrounded by his loving family. Born on a small farm in Stoneham, MA, Phil enjoyed summers in Gilmanton, NH, and Stoneham HS athletics before graduating from Boston College and Suffolk U. Law School. After joining a small Boston law firm specializing in products liability and medical malpractice, Phil was instrumental in growing the practice exponentially, and eventually rose to managing partner while earning a reputation as a masterful litigator and a top trial attorney nationwide. In later years, his success and legal prowess would continue in a variety of private law practices, culminating in a partnership with his son-in-law, David. Phil's greatest happiness in life was spending time with his family watching Boston sports-especially the Red Sox, firing up the grill at weekend cookouts, or during vacations spanning the globe. Phil will always be remembered for his quick wit, very generous nature, and captivating stories. As a true adventurer, Phil was just as comfortable skiing fresh powder in the Rockies, scuba diving on a shipwreck in the Caribbean, riding a camel around the Great Pyramids of Egypt, or exploring caves in Turkey. After separating from the love of his life, Mary, the two remained the best of friends until his passing. Phil also leaves behind son James and wife Virginia of Taos, NM; daughter Suzanne White and husband David of North Andover; sons Michael and Paul of Winthrop; grandchildren Kyle, Tyler, Arielle, and Cameron White, and Bianca, Cassidy, Ryleigh, and Michael Davis, Jr.; and several great-grandchildren. In lieu of flowers, please donate to an animal shelter of your choosing.

It was great to know you through the years, Phil. Thanks for the many memories you contributed as a member of the Stoneham HS Class of 1957. You made quite a favorable impression on people way back then and you continued doing so throughout your interesting and successful life. May you Rest now in Peace.

I've known Phillip since the first grade at The Old North School. He was a very good friend of mine. I am so sorry to hear of his passing and for your loss. My most sincere condolences. I will keep Phillip and his family and other friends in my prayers.

Sincerely,
John Shannon

I'm so fortunate to have had Phil as my father-in-law. He welcomed me into the family immediately and was always so kind to me. He was an intellectual and certainly the most well-read person I've ever met; he always had several books he was reading. But he was also very down-to-earth and took a genuine interest in everybody he met. Some of my favorite memories are of our family ski vacations in Vermont.

Rest in peace, Phil. I can't believe you're gone and you are already deeply missed.
