My parents bought the store and the house in 1955. It was Webster's General Store. The post office was also in the store and the postmaster was Al Blais. The post office moved to its present location in the very late 50's - very early 60's. We also had gas pumps which were removed around 63-64. The name of the store prior to my folks buying it was Walt's General Store. The Village Store at the time was owned by Carl and Ginny Jahnle (pronounced Yarn Lee). The Iron Works was pretty busy in the summertime. ...

Sounds like a good question for Susan Ward. Her father is one of the only people that I know that lived here at that time and maybe he would know.
