Lot layers return of Division line between Peter Judkins and John Nelson —— 1831 ——

We the undersigned having been called upon to run the line between Peter Judkins and John Nelson's land, agreeable to request we attended to the business assigned us, the said Judkins and Nelson being present, agreed that we should divide the lots equal which we did and found the lots to be 44 rods and 23 links each in width, we measured the lots at both ends and set up bounds and straitned the line from bounds to bounds and found that the said Nelson had a strip of land enclosed in his which belonged to Judkins at the Northwest end of the lots which is four rods and eight links wide at the road, and that the said Judkins had one rod and three links enclosed in his at the south east end of the lots, in order to prevent moving the stone wall which was a division fence between their fields the parties agreed to swap lands and that the division line between their lands shall be as follows viz. We began at the road to make the division line, at the stone wall now standing between their fields, thence southeasterly on said wall fifty three rods and a half to stake and stones at the lower end of said Nelson's field thence southwest four rods to stake and stones by the stone wall at the lower end of said field thence southeast to the range line at the southeast end of said lots at a stake and stones standing forty three rods and twelve links northeast of the southerly corner of said Nelson's lot—

Gentlemen

The undersigned Citizens of said Town beg leave respectfully to represent that the Road lately laid out by you or your predecessors on a report of a Committee from said town leading to the Academy, setting in at the foot of Thomas Adams hill and intersecting the old road again at or near Edward Marshes House, having been lately viewed & examined by many of your petitioners & believing as we do that the road as laid out is not on the right ground & that a variation embracing the same object would be more conducive to the public good & much less expensive to the town. We therefore pray your Honours so to alter and vary the said Road from the old one as your Wisdom shall think proper
